International Summer School in Economics and Management 2024 in Havana, Cuba

The Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin is proud to announce the 21st International Summer School in Economics and Management (ISSEM) taking place in Havana, Cuba, from September 16th til 30th this year!

The two-week summer school includes both graduate and undergraduate courses in economics, business, and management as well as quantitative methods, which are accredited with ECTS-points. Classes are taught exclusively in English by renowned international professors from Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin and other institutions. The venue not only offers you an interesting exchange with foreign scientists and students, it also provides participants with an extraordinary possibility to discuss economic development and management theories in an unique context: Cuba.

Please, find attached the flyer as a PDF-document.

Application Deadline: June 16th, 2024

More information: www.issem.de or mail to: info@issem.de

Please forward this invitation also to your colleagues and (fellow) students who might be interested in attending the summer school.

With kind regards,

The ISSEM 2024 - Team
