

Call for Applications

Winter School on Contested Territories and Legal Remedies in Public International Law Online + Cyprus (Paphos, Nicosia, Famagusta)

October – November 2025

4 ECTS

Language of instruction: English

SWPS University (Poland) invites Law students to apply for the prestigious Winter School on Contested Territories and Legal Remedies in Public International Law, organized within the framework of the ERUA – European Reform University Alliance.

Participation will be co-financed according to ERUA rules. For details on financial support, please contact the International Relations Office of Europa-Universität Viadrina Frankfurt (Oder).

Why participate?

This Winter School offers a unique academic and practical experience, combining online lectures with field activities in Cyprus. It is an extraordinary opportunity to:

- deepen your understanding of legal, political, and human rights issues in territorial conflicts;
- work in international teams with students from partner universities;
- gain direct experience through negotiation and moot court simulations;
- visit key sites of the Cyprus division, such as the UN buffer zone in Nicosia and the closed district of Varosha in Famagusta;
- develop advanced skills in public international law, applied to real-world cases.

Program structure

1. Online module (October 2025 – 8 academic hours)

Four interactive lectures introducing fundamental concepts:

- Contested territories and the principles of sovereignty, self-determination, and territorial integrity.
- Occupation and state responsibility under international law.
- ECtHR jurisprudence in territorial conflicts.
- Mechanisms of dispute resolution and international legal remedies.

2. On-site module in Cyprus (1–7 November 2025 – 22 academic hours)

- Paphos: historical introduction and legal mapping of the Cyprus conflict.
- Nicosia: visit to the divided capital and the UN buffer zone.
- Famagusta (Varosha): workshop on property restitution and protection of cultural heritage.
- Paphos: multilateral negotiation simulation.
- Paphos: moot court based on a fictional case before the ECtHR or ICJ.

Assessment and credits

Students will be assessed through:

- group portfolio,
- performance in simulations,
- active participation,
- final individual report.

Successful completion awards 4 ECTS credits.

Admission requirements

- Good knowledge of public international law.
- Minimum B2 level of English.

How to apply

Places are limited. Applications should be sent to:

Ines Friech Laraki, Friech@europa-uni.de

Contacts

- Academic coordinator: Dr. Tomasz Lewandowski, SWPS University – tlewandowski@swps.edu.pl (academic and content-related questions)
- Funding and mobility: International Relations Office, Europa-Universität Viadrina Frankfurt (Oder) (information on scholarships and ERUA support mechanisms)

Join this unique experience combining theory, practice, and field immersion in one of the most significant contemporary cases in international law!